Local Attorney Named Kentucky Super Lawyer

Brent Travelsted among Top 5% of attorneys in the state

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., November 24, 2009—Attorney Brent Travelsted of Hughes & Coleman has been named by Kentucky Super Lawyers magazine as one of the top attorneys in Kentucky for 2009. Only five percent of the lawyers in the state are named by Super Lawyers.

“It’s an honor to join this distinguished group of attorneys,” said Travelsted, who has been working with Hughes & Coleman since 1994. “While the award is personally gratifying, I see it as recognition for the entire law firm.”

A graduate of the University of Kentucky’s College of Law, Travelsted’s primary focus is litigating commercial vehicle and tractor-trailer crashes. His representative cases include a $1.6 million verdict in a commercial truck case that helped a client recover from devastating injuries. He also achieved substantial awards for the family of a young woman who was killed after being struck by a police cruiser as well as for a woman who was paralyzed after a truck driver collided with her car.

“This award showcases the exceptional work of our attorneys and the firm’s ongoing dedication to outstanding client service and legal excellence.”

“Brent is a dedicated attorney and always does an amazing job,” said attorney Lee Coleman, co-founder of Hughes & Coleman. “We’re proud of his accomplishment and know it’s well deserved.”

A life fellow of the Kentucky Bar Foundation, Travelsted is an avid outdoorsman and served 12 years as an elected supervisor of the Warren County Conservation District. He is involved in several conservation organizations and, in addition to being named a master conservationist, was honored as the Kentucky Tree Farmer of the Year by the Kentucky Forest Products Industry Council.
